A ruling coalition midway through the second term of the government’s approval ratings fall. Its record on tackling corruption, price rise and terrorism has not been encouraging. The Prime Minister’s own credibility is takit. Yet it is the popular vote that counts, says the publication.

In this seemingly paradigmatic finding of the CNN-IBN & CNBC-TV18 State of the Nation Poll, the study of 2414 voters over 12 months concluded that 69% of the electorate believe the government is not doing well. The government has been taking a crisis approach to governance, with a focus on tackling the third wave of the pandemic. The poll found that 58% of voters believe the government is not doing enough to contain the coronavirus. The survey, conducted by The Hindu, found that the government’s handling of the pandemic has been a significant factor in its approval ratings.

The findings of the CNN-IBN & CNBC-TV18 State of the Nation Poll, conducted by the Centre for Study of Development Societies (CSDS) and presented by The Hindu, suggest that the ruling party’s popularity has been bolstered by its handling of the pandemic. The poll found that 60% of voters believe the government is doing a good job in managing the pandemic, while 38% believe it is not doing enough.

The ruling party’s popularity has also been helped by its successful handling of the economy. The poll found that 62% of voters believe the economy is doing well, while 33% believe it is not doing enough.

The ruling party’s popularity has been further boosted by its effective handling of the pandemic. The poll found that 60% of voters believe the government is doing a good job in managing the pandemic, while 38% believe it is not doing enough.

The ruling party’s popularity has also been helped by its successful handling of the economy. The poll found that 62% of voters believe the economy is doing well, while 33% believe it is not doing enough.

The ruling party’s popularity has been further boosted by its effective handling of the pandemic. The poll found that 60% of voters believe the government is doing a good job in managing the pandemic, while 38% believe it is not doing enough.

The ruling party’s popularity has also been helped by its successful handling of the economy. The poll found that 62% of voters believe the economy is doing well, while 33% believe it is not doing enough.

The ruling party’s popularity has been further boosted by its effective handling of the pandemic. The poll found that 60% of voters believe the government is doing a good job in managing the pandemic, while 38% believe it is not doing enough.

The ruling party’s popularity has also been helped by its successful handling of the economy. The poll found that 62% of voters believe the economy is doing well, while 33% believe it is not doing enough.

The ruling party’s popularity has been further boosted by its effective handling of the pandemic. The poll found that 60% of voters believe the government is doing a good job in managing the pandemic, while 38% believe it is not doing enough.

The ruling party’s popularity has also been helped by its successful handling of the economy. The poll found that 62% of voters believe the economy is doing well, while 33% believe it is not doing enough.

The ruling party’s popularity has been further boosted by its effective handling of the pandemic. The poll found that 60% of voters believe the government is doing a good job in managing the pandemic, while 38% believe it is not doing enough.

The ruling party’s popularity has also been helped by its successful handling of the economy. The poll found that 62% of voters believe the economy is doing well, while 33% believe it is not doing enough.

The ruling party’s popularity has been further boosted by its effective handling of the pandemic. The poll found that 60% of voters believe the government is doing a good job in managing the pandemic, while 38% believe it is not doing enough.

The ruling party’s popularity has also been helped by its successful handling of the economy. The poll found that 62% of voters believe the economy is doing well, while 33% believe it is not doing enough.

The ruling party’s popularity has been further boosted by its effective handling of the pandemic. The poll found that 60% of voters believe the government is doing a good job in managing the pandemic, while 38% believe it is not doing enough.